Álainn (pronounced 'aw-linn') A unique opportunity to explore and participate in contemporary craft culture.

- Do you like to 'be in the know' about all things cultural?
- Do you like to be kept informed about developments in contemporary craftsmanship in Ireland?
- Do you frequently visit museums and galleries to see craft but would like to see more in private homes and corporate collections in Ireland and overseas.
- Do you own, sometimes buy, or want to buy craft, but would like to know more about who you are buying from and how to go about buying or commissioning it?
- Are you interested in getting to know craftspeople, curators, gallery owners and collectors - the people who make the craft world work?
- Would you like to support craftspeople by making sure that their work is seen in museums?
- Would you like to bring friends to events to share your interest?

If these ideas excite you, then we invite you to join the newly established Álainn - Collectors of Fine Irish Craft.
